Superintendent's Highlights

Hagerman has recently completed a round of in service training which includes development of a school Profile at the elementary level to broaden curriculum decision making in language, math and reading. The same process is planned for the high school to give additional curriculum direction in '98. In service has also provided courses in word processing, spreadsheet, and applications for all staff. In addition, the teacher mentoring program has helped develop new district personnel. The district has come into the technology age through networking and on-line opportunities for students and staff this year. Student safety has been a major concern for the Board and resulted in a district wide Resource Officer Program. A Curriculum Director and grant writer are now in place in Hagerman to assist in expanding the curriculum and special projects within the district. We now have a full time counselor for the district. The athletic program maintains solid programs in football, basketball, volleyball, and track and enjoys the communities' support.

Hagerman is a good place to go to school.
